January 8, 2018 – This year, New Media Legal Publishing celebrates an important milestone: the company has been creating innovative legal education programs for more than a decade. Founded in 2008 to distribute its first program – the “Deposition Testimony: 5 Simple Rules” deposition preparation program – New Media Legal Publishing now boasts a catalog containing dozens of high-quality continuing legal education (“CLE”) programs. Through its ClientLink service, the company also makes CLE programs produced by some of the world’s largest law firms available for viewing by their lawyers, clients, prospective clients and alumni.

In addition, New Media Legal Publishing recently launched its own on-line CLE website, NewMediaNow! (www.newmedianow.us), featuring its full catalog of premium CLE courses, including all courses in its popular “Stand-Up CLE,” “Negotiation Ethics for Lawyers” and “Hack My MBA for Lawyers” series. The website is easy to use and accessible on multiple platforms, including video-enabled mobile devices – enabling lawyers to complete CLE courses at work, home, or on the go.

“We’re very proud of what we’ve accomplished over the past decade,” said Zachary S. McGee, Chairman of New Media Legal Publishing. “We look forward to continuing to partner with our customers to achieve their goals as the legal industry continues to evolve over the next 10 years.”
